

OPERATORS TO BE ELIMINATED BY DIAL SYSTEM

Customer dialing of long distance telephone calls will be available to party line users as well as private line subscribers according to United Telephone Company District Manager John E. Caldwell, who Wednesday announced a three-quarter of a million dial conversion program for Gettysburg.

With the new service Gettysburg telephone users will complete most of their long distance calls as well as all local calls without the aid of an operator.

A large percentage of the telephones on the North American continent will be reached by dialing no more than ten digits after first reaching the mechanical ticketing equipment. Calls to most central Pennsylvania points will require only seven digit dialing after the ticketing apparatus is contacted.

Edgewood Is Code Name

Customer dialed long distance calls are routed automatically by means of electronic and mechanical devices. Call details such as called number, calling number, length of conversation, date and time of day are recorded on special tapes which are eventually used in the mechanical preparation of customer toll statements.

Manager Caldwell reported that for purposes of inter-exchange calling Gettysburg has been assigned the code name EDgewood and that all telephone numbers will have two letters and five numerals.

Information, person to person and other special types of calls requiring operator assistance will be handled through the Hanover switchboard.

Options For Operators

When the change to dial is completed in approximately eighteen months, Gettysburg operating personnel will be offered several options including transfers to any other available positions and separation allowances. If necessary, the company will also provide assistance in securing other employment.

Telephone Company representatives pointed out that the work of planning and engineering for the change to dial had been under way for many months and that some of the rebuilding of the local distribution system had already been completed. The telephone cable network will be expanded and additional underground cable added prior to conversion.

Construction of the new telephone building at the corner of W. Middle and West Sts. is scheduled to start late this year.

ROAD DISPUTE AIRED IN COURT

The Adams County court today was hearing testimony to determine whether the road ten feet from the cottage of Adam Micum in Hamiltonban Twp. is development of an ancient road or a trespass on the part of Olmer Spence of Fairfield.

The decision will be in an equity action being tried without a jury before the court. The action was brought by Micum, a resident of Darby, Pa., who has a summer cottage on his 76-acre property in Hamiltonban Twp., against Spence, who has been using a road past the Micum cottage for the transport of logs cut from Spence's timberland on the mountain behind the Micum cottage.

Dulles Declares Campaign Against Formosa Is "Armed Conquest," "Grave Threat"

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles declared today the Chinese Communist campaign against Formosa poses a grave threat, with ominous implications. He called for a prompt cease-fire.

Dulles made his comment in a major policy address before the U.N. General Assembly as that 81-nation body opened general debate in its 13th regular session.

He expressed hope the talks now in progress in Warsaw between U.S. and Chinese Communist ambassadors would end the current crisis, but reserved the right to bring the problem to the U.N. if the talks appeared headed for failure.

Dulles charged that the Chinese Communist regime is now attempting to extend its authority to the offshore islands by the use of naked force. "The issue is thus a simple one: Armed conquest," he said.

He said the current actions of the Peiping government demonstrate again that Red China is not "peace-loving"—a phrase used in the U.N. charter in defining requirements for membership in the world organization.

Dulles spoke a few hours before the Assembly's Steering Committee was to consider whether the U.N. should debate the question of seating Red China. The committee was expected to reject an Indian proposal for such a debate. "We seek a prompt cease-fire and equitable conditions which will eliminate provocations and leave for peaceful resolution the different claims and counter-claims that are involved," Dulles said of the Warsaw talks.

Many Calls For Used Clothing

Reporting the heaviest demand in years for children's clothing, the Adams County Red Cross issued an appeal today for donations of clean, wearable clothing for boys and girls in all sizes.

The heaviest demand in the last week, said Mrs. Peggy P. Hill, executive secretary of the chapter, has been for clothing for school age youngsters and the short supply the Red Cross had on hand has been exhausted.

On Wednesday, she said, six families asked the Red Cross for children's clothing. In one case, the father is critically ill and two school age boys need clothing to wear to school. The family is receiving public assistance but lacks money to buy clothes for the boys.

Although there are some calls for clothes for children under school age, most requests are for sizes from 7 through 16.

PICK SITE FOR NEW UNIVERSITY

Florida Presbyterian University, of which Dr. William H. Kadel, a Gettysburg native, is president, will be located at St. Petersburg, Fla., it was announced early this week after a surprise joint decision by the two major branches of the Presbyterian Church.

The four-year liberal arts school which someday churchmen hope will become "the Princeton of the South," will be located on a two-million-dollar, 160-acre site on Boca Ciega Bay provided by the city of St. Petersburg. It will be the first university in the state with a waterfront campus.

The choice of St. Petersburg by the college trustees of the Presbyterian Church of the U.S. (South) and the northern church, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., in effect combines a proposed Winter Haven College with the St. Petersburg institution. The merger of the plans of the two groups was described as a "surprise" and came after negotiations which opened in June.

Classes may start in the new institution by 1961.

Dr. John B. Dickson, also a Gettysburg native, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tampa, is a member of a board of trustees for the new college named last May by the Southern church.

Dr. Kadel, who has been pastor of the Orlando First Presbyterian Church, is the son of Mrs. J. H. Kadel, W. Middle St. Dr. Dickson is the son of Mrs. J. Allen Dickson, W. Water St. Both men are Gettysburg College alumni.

to everything in its power to promote Gettysburg.

"Tonight I have sought to tell the value of the college to the town because of rumors that have been floating about. We established an advisory group of townspersons to tell us what the town is thinking about in regard to the college, to correct misunderstandings that are bound to crop up, and help us work more closely with our community.

"Rumors have been rife since work began on the Student Union building. It is regrettable that rumors have been accepted and that no one took the time to find out the facts. We are always available to answer questions. I happen to be one of those blunt types who prefer people to ask me what is going on and I tell them just as bluntly.

Not In Competition

"There have been rumors that there are to be bowling alleys in the new Student Union building, that we will ruin the bowling business locally. We will have bowling alleys, six of them, as part of the recreation program in the Student Union building. But six alleys will never harm anyone's business locally. We will have an enlarged book store in the Student Union building, but it will be for more space, not to make great increases in the number of articles for sale. At present you practically have to climb over books to get into our book store.

"There have been rumors that there will be a drug store, a beauty shop and a haberdashery in the Student Union building. There will not. We are not going into business, we simply wish to provide a service for our students, similar to the supplies available now. We have many paper backed books for sale because they are used as supplemental reading or in some cases as textbooks, by our students. In the haberdashery field we will have sweaters for sale, just as we have had for years. We are not competing with local stores. Students will be visiting the local stores for purchases in as large numbers as ever.

Barber Concession Open

"We are putting in a snack bar in the Student Union building for the convenience of the students who are using its recreational facilities. I do not think that it will reduce student patronage in town.

"And we will have a barber shop because all of my students cannot get their hair cut here in Gettysburg. Your barbers will cut a negro's hair. This is the town where Lincoln spoke and where the climactic battle of the Civil War was fought. We have only two negro students at present, but I was ashamed when I learned they had to go to Harrisburg or elsewhere to get their hair cut. We plan to offer an opportunity to local barbers to have the concession on barbershop at the Student Union building, but they will have to cut the hair of all who come there.

Civil War Museum

"And we will feed groups at our dining hall. We think that is a facility we need to offer. We fed the 3,000 persons who came to the campus during the summer for conventions and meetings because that was part of the facilities they sought. That doesn't mean the dining hall will hurt you. They still come into Gettysburg, and visit restaurants and stores. And if the dining hall facilities were not there some of the gatherings might go elsewhere.

"As the Hotel Gettysburg, Criterion Lodge etc., can tell you, the college is good for their business. We use them frequently. The college attracts people here who need such accommodations.

"We want to cooperate with Gettysburg in every way and we want to promote things that are good not only for the college but for the town.

"One of our plans is the establishment here of a Civil War museum, library and workshop. There has been about one book a day published about the Civil War since it ended. There needs to be a repository where that accumulation of fact and literature can be found. We plan for Gettysburg College's Civil War library to be that repository.

Swimming Pool

"We will have an olympic-sized swimming pool with seats for spectators, and we will have a larger auditorium for our students' needs. Christ Chapel holds 1,200. We have 1,500 students. So if we want them all together we've got to have a larger space.

"I heard a local resident complain that he was not going to give any more donations to the college because he saw three workmen engaged in cutting one lawn. One man worked and two watched. We have to admit that happened. Two of our men 'goofed off.' But then I defy any employer to be able to say that none of his employees ever 'goofed off.' And I think most employers have from time to time possibly 'goofed off' themselves. We try to prevent it, naturally. Stanley Hoffman, who is one of the best business managers anywhere, cracks down. But it is bound to happen. Like any employer we do everything possible to see that it happens rarely.

have been rumors for years that the town cannot get new industry because of the college. That is ridiculous. Show me any place that an industry cannot get along with a college. A college is an attraction for industry, because it provides a place for the education of the children of the men and women employed by the industry, and it provides future employees trained in science and business fields. And colleges like industries around because from time to time many of them have some money to spare that they are willing to provide for educational purposes and the college in their home town generally gets that help.

"Incidentally the college stands ready to help the Chamber of Commerce in any way in its attempts to get new industry here. Please feel free to call upon us in any way.

College Looks Forward

"There have been rumors that we would like to purchase the Inductive Equipment Corporation property. Of course we would. We'd like to buy any property adjacent to our campus, because we must look 25, 50 years in the future when increased enrollment will make it necessary for us to have much more space. For our students we must have a living area, a playing area, a working area, each in its own section. That is what we are working toward now. But the fact that we would like to purchase adjoining property now used for industry does not mean we want industry to leave town. But if the day ever comes that that property, or any other adjacent property becomes available, of course the college will be interested.

"The question is asked about haberdashers and others coming onto the campus to sell direct to students. We do have some students who sell shirts and other articles to help pay their way through school. We do not encourage it, but it is a necessary part of college life. Those who wish to sell on campus must go before Student Council for approval.

As to those who come in from outside as salesmen, we completely discourage that. Last year there was one attempt. We told him to see ourborough officials for a peddler's license if he wanted to sell in the town. That was the last we saw of him. And that action is not only to protect local merchants, it has been our experience that we, by doing so, are protecting our own students, because often such salesmen deal in shoddy products.

Negro Students

"In connection with the two negro students on the campus, the question is raised as to whether we plan to admit negro co-eds. Our policy is this, that admission is based on meeting the scholastic standards of the school. We have had a few applications from negro co-eds and those so far have needed more financial aid than we could possibly give. If a student applies having the appropriate scholastic standing and the finances, of course she will be admitted.

"So far our $3,500,000 building program has been financed by federal funds which are available for such building.

"Such funds are available for dormitories and the dormitories we have built will be self-amortizing. The fees paid by the students will repay the money borrowed, plus interest.

"But such funds are not available for classrooms. For that we will need folding money. And so you find us as educated mendicants. We will be going out to ask for money, sizeable sums of it. Our present thinking indicates a need for $7,500,000 worth of buildings.

"The National Defense Ministry said two LSTs unloaded all their cargo without suffering damage.

"The ships were escorted across Formosa Strait by Nationalist warships and by vessels of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which remained outside the three-mile limit as usual.

"The trial continued this afternoon.

Language Building
McKnight Hall houses 48 students, which is uneconomic. We hope to transfer it into a language building where we can have language and other aides to instruction in languages. We have added Russian to our language courses this year, and there should be training in other languages that we do not teach.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

U. S. Adopted Constitution 151
Years Ago: Today (September 17) is Constitution Day. 151 years ago today the members of Congress, by a majority of 55 delegates from 12 states, ratified the proposed constitution which was to make a nation out of a few highly independent states.

In honor of the anniversary, Gettysburg today is flying flags from home, store and street. Burgess Heiges Wednesday called upon town residents and business places to display the flag, and announced that the borough council had authorized the display of the flags owned by the town. Previous to this the Veterans of Foreign Wars had called upon Gettysburgians to display their flags in honor of the ratifications anniversary.

But the Constitution honored today is somewhat different from the paper signed by the members of the congress.

Then the constitution consisted of a preamble and seven articles and it was adopted in that form on September 17, 1787 by a majority of the 55 delegates from 12 states who had begun their deliberations at Philadelphia on May 12 of that year. Rhode Island sent no delegates. Of the 65 chosen by the other states, 10 did not attend. Of the delegates in attendance 16 declined or failed to sign.

Five Building Projects For Schools Would Cost $364,000: Ira Y. Baker, Adams County superintendent of schools, today released a detailed explanation of the tentative plan for Adams County schools which has been adopted by the Adams County Board of School Directors in accordance with recent state legislation.

His statement revealed that five building projects have been submitted to the Department of Public Instruction for approval and have been given a docket number. The projects contemplate an expenditure of $364,000 for new buildings or additions in five districts.

The districts for which projects have been set up, and the estimated costs, follow: Biglerville, $75,000; East Berlin, $80,000; Fairfield, $67,000; Littlestown, $72,000, and York Springs, $70,000.

$1,856 County's Fire Insurance Tax Share In '58: The state treasurer has forwarded checks in the amount of $667,041 to the treasurers of Pennsylvania cities, boroughs and townships for the use of the Firemen's Relief Fund association, representing the two per cent tax paid on premiums by foreign fire insurance companies for the calendar year ended December 31.

The total payment to be made to Adams County units is $1,856. Amounts going to the various boroughs are: Abbottstown, $26.66; Arendtsville, $12.13; Bendersville, $10.15; Biglerville, $33.45; East Berlin, $68.56; Fairfield, $10.57; Gettysburg, $801.85; Littlestown, $136.46; McSherrystown, $106.82; New Oxford, $70.18; York Springs, $8.29.

Wedding: W. Mark Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johns, 114 West Middle Street and Miss Fay A. Jeffries, Bendersville, were united in marriage last Saturday in Taneytown. The single ring ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Presbyterian church by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Morris.

Today's Talk

OUTLETS TO WORRY

Winston Churchill once stated that one reason why he took up painting was because it "served as outlet to worry." Also that it took care of many an hour of leisure time. How little we realize how much we can do with this leisure time! Churchill solved his escape from worry through his fingers. And on he painted, serving that leisure.

Worry creates nothing but anxiety and troubles. It seriously interferes with digestion and robs anyone who nurses it of precious moments. How well many of us who have adopted a hobby of some sort know the value and joy that it spreads through our lives.

Creating an outlet to worry, allowing it to go its own way, is like opening up an escape for stagnant water in a pond or spring. Every outlet we can discover that will free one of worry is worth cultivating and tying to permanently.

What a smoothness there is to life when we do not allow worry to take all the joy and thrills out of it. There is always something better ahead. There are surprises on the way for each one of us, if we only possess our souls with patience and expectancy!

If the steam engine didn't have a way of getting rid of its excess steam it wouldn't last very long — there would be a blowout in short order! The outlet for that excess steam would make all the difference in safety and efficiency.

It is often a good thing for some of us humans to be granted an outlet for our excess energies. Even for our anger — if we can keep it under control! An interesting hobby is always a useful and highly helpful extra occupation. Highly instructive, too. Just ask the one who has one!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Very Great Writer."

HAPPINESS

To be happy is what we are here for;
And not to be rich or be proud;
Not to do things the populace cheer for;
Or win the applause of the crowd;
But to live in the way that most pleases,
Enjoying the charms that appeal;
To bask in the midsummer breezes
And look on the sunshine as real.

To be happy, yes that is our mission,

Contended, not lacking ambition
Or spending each moment in play,
But doing the tasks that best suit us,

Regardless of glory or fame;
Seeking joy as a Caesar or Brutus,
With happiness always our aim.

To be happy, that's what we are here for,
And not to be rich or be great;

If joy hangs on dead that men cheer for
Then long must one struggle and wait.

But if happiness dwells with the humble,
Who strives not for glory or gain,
And who doesn't murmur or grumble,

But smiles, he's not living in vain.

MECO GETS TOP SAFETY AWARD

For the fourth consecutive year Metropolitan Edison Company employees were presented with the top safety award of the Pennsylvania Electric Association during the 51st annual meeting of that organization Wednesday in the Penn-Sheraton Hotel, Pittsburgh.

Presented by J. O. Chambers of Gettysburg, PEA president, the first-place bronze plaque was awarded to MECO for a low accident frequency rate during 1957-58 of 0.733 (number of accidents per million manhours worked) in the contest for companies working more than one million manhours annually. The average accident frequency rate for all competing companies was 3.524. MECO's accident rate was nearly five times better than the state average and ten times better than the national rate for the industry which was 6.39 last year, according to the National Safety Council.

Further honors were conferred on the local electric company employees with the presentation of a certificate for achieving the greatest improvement in their own safety performance. To win this certificate MECO employees registered a 50.4 per cent reduction over their past five-year accident average, which is recognized as one of the best in the country.

Kenneth G. Cregar, Lauderdale, system safety director for the local utility, accepted both awards on behalf of the employees from Chambers, who commended the MECO employees for their accomplishment and urged them to continue the observance of safe working practices which has made their repeated winning of awards possible. Cregar said that continued vigilance on the job by employees throughout the system, as well as their cooperation and support in implementing the MECO safety program, has been a major factor in scoring this year's outstanding record. Assisting him in conducting the company's safety program are: Harold G. Painter, Reading; Joseph A. Kirchgassner, Easton, and Ellsworth R. J. Diven, York, division safety directors.

More than 750 representatives of the state's investor-owned, independent electric companies attended the two-day meeting. G. Raymond Parry, executive vice president of MECO and a PEA vice president, presided over today's luncheon session.

Bolts Host Dallastown; Delone, Canners Travel; Warriors Have Open Date

Only three of Adams County's scholastic football teams are scheduled for games this week, Gettysburg High having an open date.

Littlestown entertains Dallastown Friday evening in the opening Laurel Conference game, while Delone travels to Carlisle. On Saturday at 2 p.m. Biglerville meets Camp Hill on the Camp Hill gridiron.

The open date for the Gettysburg High Warriors is particularly welcome since a number of the squad members have recently been hit by a virus-type illness which has hampered workouts. The Warriors next meet Shippensburg on the Greyhounds' field Friday, September 26.

This week also marks the opening of the South Penn Conference season. Chambersburg invades Hanover Friday evening while Middletown plays at Waynesboro Saturday night.

Littlestown At Littlestown
Littlestown is the only home team this week, meeting Dallastown on the Thunderbolts' field Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the opening Laurel Conference game.

Dallastown received a jolt last week when it bowed to Enola in its opening game 32-7 and the Wildcats will be doubly anxious for victory at Littlestown.

Coach Rafe Nabors, in his sixth year as coach at Dallastown, has nine lettermen on his 40-man squad.

Vets To Start
The veterans, all of whom will oppose the Bolts, include Blaine Kerr and Mike Rupprecht, ends; Wayne Bupp, tackle; Laverne Roomburg and Gary Strickler, guards; Barry Keckler, quarterback; Jim Weitkamp and Barry Hengst, halfbacks, and Carter Myers, fullbacks.

Wib Gobrecht's Thunderbolts will also be gunning for their initial triumph after suffering an opening day jolt, 25-14, at the hands of Shippensburg.

During the past week Littlestown has been polishing up on pass defense in which they showed a weakness last week.

The squad is reported in good condition and no change is anticipated in the starting lineup.

A special half-time feature will include a performance by the Alpha Fire Co. marching unit.

Biglerville At Camp Hill
The Biglerville High Canners wait until Saturday afternoon for their engagement this week, opposing strong Camp Hill on the latter's field, with the kickoff slated for 2 o'clock.

Coach Jack Emanuel and his staff have been sending the Canners through stiff drills in preparation for what looks to be one of their toughest assignments.

Last Friday Biglerville lost a thriller to New Cumberland 14-13 but gave every indication of developing into a top notch outfit.

The squad came out of the game in good condition and there will probably be no changes made in the lineup.

Camp Hill is one of the favorites to cop the Lower Susquehanna Conference title. The squad is loaded with veterans with good speed and weight.

LANE FAVORS NEW BONUS RULE

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Six weeks on the sidelines with a broken leg ruined Bill Hartack's chances of winning his fourth straight riding title. But the 26-year-old veteran of the saddle has the distinction of reaching one of his goals. He joined the exclusive 2,000-winner club.

Hartack, who won the 1955 title with 417 victories, the '56 title with 347 and the '57 championship with 341, reached the 2,000 mark Wednesday when he piloted Herald Wind ($5.80) to victory in the fifth race at Atlantic City.

The Johnstown, Pa., native had almost as hard time getting No. 2,000 as he did his first winner at Waterford Park on Oct. 14, 1952.

He needed only three to reach the figure since the first of September.

Philip J. Baker, general manager of the New Jersey Seashore Track, made sure that a desk set acknowledging Hartack's achievement was in the winner's circle each day. But it wasn't until Wednesday that Baker got to present it.

Hartack joined a group that includes John Longden, now sidelined with a broken leg, Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson, Johnny Adams, Ralph Neves, Willie Shoemaker, Steven Brooks, Johnny Westrop, H. A. Keene, F. Hernandez and Jimmy Stout.

Sinc coming to the races six years ago, Hartack has had 8,313 mounts. His record shows 2,000 winners, 1,420 seconds and 1,143 thirds for total earnings of $10,235,040. This year he has ridden 186 winners and his mounts have earned $1,177,664, a far-cry from the record of $3,060,501 he established last year while hanging up 48 stake victories.

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australia's miracle runner Herb Elliott did his slowest mile today — 13 minutes, 15.7 seconds.

He was riding through the streets of Melbourne where people gave him a hero's welcome.

Elliott, who this year has run a mile under four minutes 10 times and has established a new world record time of 3:54.8, is here to talk about his future with his employers, a chemical company.

Major League Stars

Pitching — Jim Bunning, Tigers, blanked the champion Yankees over the last six innings for 5-2 complete game victory with a seven-hitter, striking out eight.

Hitting — Reno Bertoia, Tigers, drove in three runs with two homers in 5-2 decision that gave Detroit 12-10 season edge over Yankees.

Specialist Gives Helpful Hints On Study Habits To Freshmen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Millions of students are back in class wondering if they have what it takes to shine as scholars.

They should lend an ear to Dr. Leslie N. Nason, professor of education at the University of Southern California. He's specialized for 20 years in the helping students do better at exams.

Study habits, he says, can make all the difference. And he has a lot of helpful hints.

Cultivate Proper Methods

Here are some he devised for college freshmen—"the freshman year is an ideal time to cultivate proper methods" — but which should benefit students at other levels:

"1. Read the material in the table of contents of whatever book you are studying.

"2. Read the first paragraph or two of the first chapter.

"3. Skim through the chapter rapidly.

"4. Read the summary at the end of the chapter.

Fast Reading Helps

"Then start reading the chapter carefully. At the end of each paragraph, ask yourself, 'What did the writer say?' And if you can't answer this question, you were reading too slowly.

"Slow reading allows extraneous thoughts and material to penetrate the consciousness. Reading faster serves to whip the mind to a faster rate of operation, thus limiting the circle of perception exclusively to the material at hand."

Lecture Hints

"You have to prepare for the lecture by glancing at the material to be lectured on beforehand. You get an over-all pattern in mind. You are filling up mind space which is not utilized by the lecturer. He's not talking fast enough to fill up your mind.

"There is a little game you ought to play. If the lecturer is too slow, try to anticipate what he will say about the subject. If you do that, then the entire circle of perception is filled either with the lecturer's ideas or with the over-all pattern of the subject matter."

PAY SHORTAGE CLOSES SCHOOLS

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP) — The West Mahanoy Township school system was closed again today in a dispute over back pay for teachers that apparently has the support of parents and students.

The trouble started Tuesday when five men teachers at the high school started picketing and said they would keep it up until they get at least four of the eight months pay owed them.

Some 15 women teachers crossed the picket line Tuesday enabling the elementary and junior high schools to open. But the high school students refused to cross.

Wednesday the women teachers crossed again, but this time none of the younger children came to school. School superintendent William Rowan said their parents kept them away and the schools would be closed today. The school system has 400 students.

The teachers received two and a half months salary Wednesday from the balance of a grant by the state, and the harried school board will meet tonight in special session to decide what to do next.

Hard Luck Bandit Is Set-up For Cops

DETROIT (AP) — Police rate Carl Erb a hard luck bandit.

Erb locked a service station attendant behind what he thought was a closet door. The door proved to be a rear exit. The attendant called police.

The fleeing Erb threw away a coat. Police found a medicine bottle bearing his name and address in one pocket.

Held on a robbery charge, Erb told police he spent the night with a companion. Police checked. The companion said he was helping Erb with a robbery.

GETS HIS MAN

ASHEVILLE, N.C. — U.S.

Deputy Marshal Hugh Stevens traveled hundreds of miles during the past three months trying to run down Raymond G. Pendergrass on a stolen check charge. Stevens was on his way to his office in the Post Office Building Wednesday when he bumped into and nabbed Pendergrass standing at the money order window.

INFANT ASSIGNMENT

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Eastern State cage coach Paul McBrayer mailed a scholarship contract to a 1-year-old boy recently.

His name is Gregory Adams. His father, Jack, rewrote virtually every Eastern basketball record before graduating in 1956.

In his congratulatory note to the proud father, McBrayer wrote: "Have him (Gregory) sign this (the contract) at his convenience and return it to me."

TARGET FOR ARCHERS

FRANKPORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said the only legal way to catch fish in Kentucky was by hook and line — or bow and arrow.

Ford's New Three-Year Pact Expected To Set New Pattern

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. looked hopefully forward today to a period of labor peace based on a new three-year agreement with the United Auto Workers Union. The pact is expected to set a pattern for the entire auto industry.

Ford and the UAW announced a settlement of their differences Wednesday several hours after some 98,000 workers walked off their jobs in Ford plants across the nation. The strike remained in effect at some plants, pending agreement on local problems.

With the Ford contract tucked in his pocket, UAW President Walter Reuther said he will now turn his attention to General Motors and Chrysler. He undoubtedly will ask for similar contract gains from the two firms.

Yet To Be Ratified

Terms of the Ford pact, which must still be ratified and approved by UAW locals, bring an approximate 10 cent hourly pay boost for all workers, plus extra fringe benefits. The new average hourly rate is estimated at about $2.52.

Reuther indicated he was optimistic over the chances of a settlement with the other two members of the industry's big three, but he made it clear the union would not hesitate to set a strike deadline if such action becomes necessary.

Talks at GM and Chrysler resume today.

Note Of Optimism

A note of optimism came also from GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, who commented on the Ford settlement:

"I would like to congratulate both parties for arriving at an accord. I know it took a lot of hard work. I see no reason why with hard work and sincerity of purpose around the bargaining table that at GM, too, our people cannot look forward to a long period of labor peace and stability."

John Bugas, Ford vice president who directed negotiations for the company, said he believed GM "will be delighted" with the settlement, and added:

"It is a solid contract. Our settlement with the UAW is not an excessive package."

In the package were included an eight cent basic hourly wage increase for some skilled workers, separation pay of up to $3,000, increased retirement benefits, improvements in hospitalization, surgical and group insurance coverage, provisions for night shift differential, Saturday overtime and jury duty pay.

Bugas said it was up to the Ford board to decide whether the settlement would be reflected in higher car prices.

The settlement came after 30 hours of around the clock bargaining and after 93 days of contract talks between the UAW and the big three.

DEATHS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Herbie Fields, 39, one of the country's leading jazz musicians, died Wednesday. Police said he committed suicide by taking an overdose of sleeping pills. His saxophone won him both big prizes of American jazz, the Esquire and Metronome awards.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. Charles W. O. Bunker, 76, former commanding officer of the Bethesda Naval Medical Center, died Tuesday of a heart ailment. He joined the Navy in 1907 and began a 37-year career as an expert on tropical medicine and naval hospital administration.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rear Adm. William Henry Shea, 81, once commander of the famous old Coast Guard cutter Bear, died Wednesday. He began his career as a Coast Guard officer at the turn of the century and first retired in 1941 but returned and was chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission's Survey Board during World War II. He was born in Albany, N.Y.

REDDING, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Coco Maloney Roper, 83, mother of Elmo Roper, public opinion analyst, died Tuesday. She was the widow of Elmo B. Roper, a banker of Hebron, Neb., who died last December.

PLUGGING PADRE

HONOLULU (AP) — A Catholic priest has turned to the music business with dazzling wit.

Plugging an album of songs by a teen-age choir he directs, Father John McDonald wrote in a circular letter:

"The enclosed brochure is somewhat flamboyant, but readable. Because I composed it, it is to be suspected of bias — to say the least."

ABINGDON, Va. (AP) — Sam Campbell, ambulance owner, lost a race to the stork and delivered a baby at a rural residence. But he got no praise from nurses when he brought mother and baby girl to a hospital — they completed the job by delivering a brother to the little girl. The twins were born 30 minutes apart.

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — A hotel guest, who took her pet poodle to Del Mar horse races wearing a diamond-studded collar, decided he was too cramping sharing her room. She rented the adjoining one for him, at $35 a day.

FASHION FAVORS ONLY COLOR FOR PAKISTANLADIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Housewives of Pakistan, even as their American sisters, are receiving the latest tips in fashion, food, child care, and how-to-keep-your-husband-happy by newspaper and radio.

Mrs. Fatima Mansuri, Pakistan's first lady of broadcasting and woman's page editor of Karachi's weekly Dawn, a newspaper printed in the Pakistani dialect called Gujrati, is now on her way back home after attending the ninth International Congress on Home Economics held recently at the University of Maryland. Here on a travel grant from the Asia Foundation, she is loaded down with material on food and nutrition. But she wonders just how she can use most of it for Pakistani housewives have slightly different problems than those in the United States.

Take, for one example, the editor's problem of keeping her women readers informed on the last word in fashion. In this country, housewives are fighting the battle of the sack, the chemise and the trapeze. In Moslem Pakistan, the women — as they have for centuries — wear saris, long cloths draped and wound around their bodies and covering them from Shoulders to ankle.

"The saris themselves never change," explained Mrs. Mansuri, "but the color combinations do. Some time ago, it was the vogue to wear printed saris over printed blouses. Then that changed, and we were wearing plain blouses and printed saris or vice versa. The latest is plain colored saris and plain blouses — of any number of colors, of course, and sometimes with a little embroidery on them."

A Pakistani newspaper writer and broadcaster has problems of tered by Americans. For one thing, about 80 per cent of the population is illiterate — hence, unable to read newspapers — and too poor to afford radios. Mainly, she says, she is writing and broadcasting for urban housewives.

"When we talk or write about food, we can't emphasize recipes, because there are scarcities of many things. And, of course, women do not have the equipment available here — electric refrigerators, for instance, or automatic stoves. We still use charcoal, wood or oil for cooking. And most things except rice and wheat — particularly the cereals — are very expensive."

Marital Advice

Recently, says Mrs. Mansuri, bits of marital advice have begun to creep into newspaper columns and broadcasts; even suggestions that the housewives think about keeping or getting slim.

"Our women are becoming doctors, nurses, teachers, college professors," she said. "A few are lawyers, a few business women and fewer still are newspaper

Poisonous Toad Found In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An aggressive, oversized toad newly found in Miami has been identified as a poisonous tropical variety native to South America and the West Indies.

Dr. E. Martin Miller, University of Miami zoologist, said it's Bufo Marinus which secretes a whitish, poisonous fluid from glands behind its head. The toad Miller examined was killed after it had jumped at Mrs. Gretha Wallace in her yard.

Mrs. Connie Silkey reported her Dalmatian dog died 15 minutes after shaking off a toad that had clamped its jaws on his head. The poisonous reptile is warty, yellow-brown and about five times as large as an average bullfrog.

Tries To Rob Bank One Way Or Other

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A man recently tried to cash a check at the South End Bank and Trust Co. Teller George Cherlong refused to cash it.

A few minutes later, the man returned and said he had a gun in his pocket. Cherlong, by then, was annoyed. "If you've got a gun," he said, "let me see it or get out."

The man left. Then he came back again and asked to see the vice president. The bank had had enough. Police were called and they charged him with attempted robbery. They said he apparently had been drinking.

BURN AND SAVE

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — The state of Virginia feels it is saving from $2,000 to $3,000 per building in burning 63 structures here.

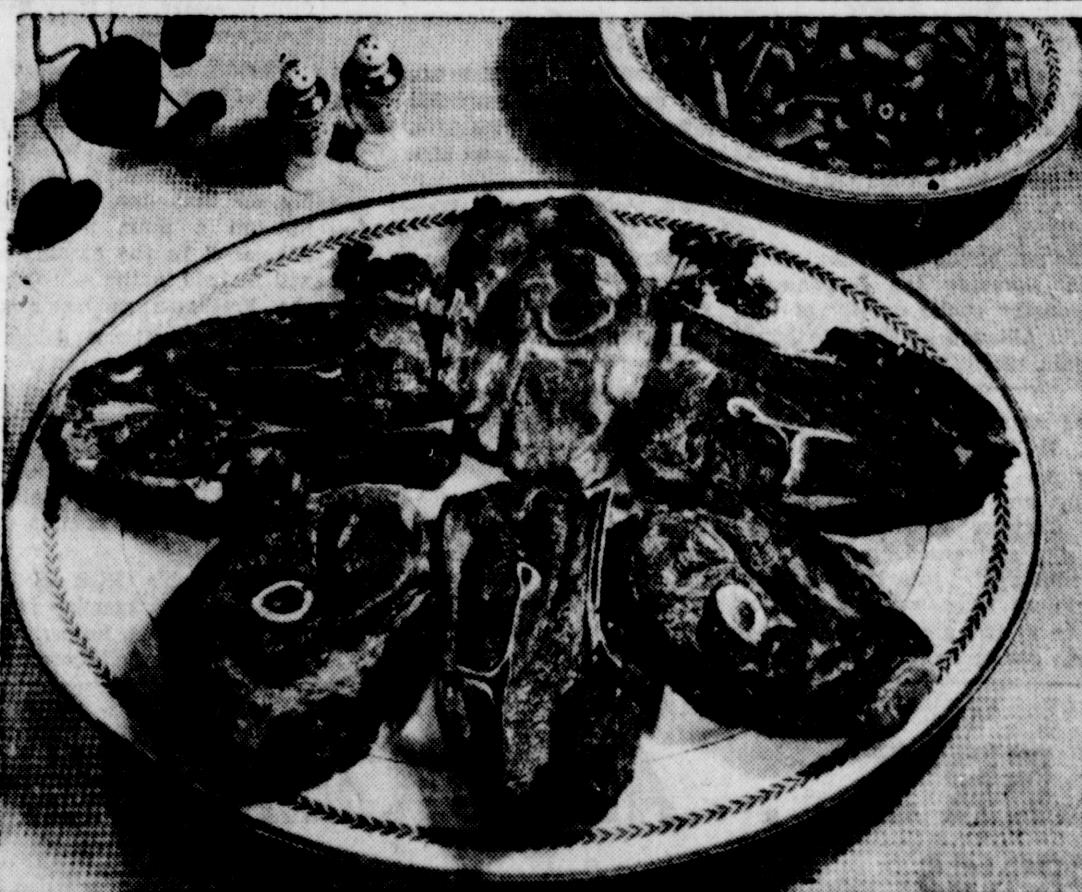

It would cost that much more to demolish them by conventional methods. The buildings are on the state military reservation and beyond repair. The 459th Engineer Detachment (Reserve) is handling the burning job.

Marital Advice

Recently, says Mrs. Mansuri, bits of marital advice have begun to creep into newspaper columns and broadcasts; even suggestions that the housewives think about keeping or getting slim.

Piquant Braised Lamb Chops

Whether it's breakfast, lunch or dinner, there's always a lamb cut to fit your needs.

Lamb is actually a year-round treat for year-round meals. Because it is such a popular companion for so many foods, it's an easy meat to incorporate into menus served from dawn to dusk.

For example, chops or patties are excellent fare at breakfast. Lunch often finds lamb a major ingredient of tasty hot casseroles. And, elegant lamb roasts as well as many other lamb cuts often grace the dinner table. Party time is not left out, either, for this meat is frequently featured in hors d'oeuvres.

Lamb is excellent served either hot or cold. But, no matter which way you prefer it, low temperature cooking is the best method to achieve a juicy, tender and perfectly done cut of lamb as well as other meats.

The majority of people prefer lamb cooked medium to well-done. Actually, if you cook it until it is slightly pink on the inside, there will be less shrinkage and the meat will be extra flavorful as well as very juicy and tender.

Lamb shoulder chops are a popular item. Though they are good when broiled or pan-broiled, braising allows the introduction of new flavors which accent the goodness of the meat. These Spicy Lamb Chops initiate a new idea in braising liquid — you'll want to add this recipe to your collection of lamb treats.

Purchase 4 to 6 lamb shoulder chops cut $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 inch thick. Allow one to a serving. Brown the meat on both sides in 2 tablespoons of lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup apricot nectar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 cinnamon stick. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes or until the meat is tender. Remove cinnamon stick and chicken cooking liquid with flour, if gravy is desired. Buttered green beans are a good accompaniment.

AUTARGET TEST FOR QUICK DRAW

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Note to cowboys, cops and self-styled gunslinger: So you think you're quick on the draw, eh?

Well, a 6-foot gunman here is ready to call your bluff.

The gunman, called the autarget, is a machine—the imaginative product of three local men. They have encased a 6-foot silhouette of a man in a plywood and plexiglass rectangle, wired with electrical circuits like a pinball machine.

The head and chest area, made of plywood, correspond to the normal "kill" area of the human heart.

To test the speed of a draw, an operator at a control box presses a button that lights the eyes in the gunman's head. At this signal, the contestant reaches for his gun and fires.

A timing mechanism, ticking at one-tenth second intervals, stops only after a bullet hits the kill area.

A scoreboard flashes the time

— just like a pinball machine.

The device is being used to sharpen the reaction of Erie County deputy sheriffs.

Only wax bullets are used because often, in his haste to fire, a would-be Wyatt Earp lets fly before he clears the holster and pumps a bullet into his own foot. Also, the wax bullets don't puncture the machine.

The autarget was designed by Deputy Sheriff Davis M. Sheldon, Mortimer A. Sullivan Jr., an aerial patrolman, and William J. Pike, an electrical engineer.

The invention could, if the Western TV stars were willing, answer with finality a perplexing question for television fans: Who has the fastest gun in the video West?

Ageless Comedian Starts 3rd Farewell

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — Ageless Edward Everett Horton says his 1958 swing around the straw hat circuit is "the fourth of my 10 farewell tours."

Quickly the 70-year-old comedian added, while in Kennebunkport for a week's stint: "I'm cheating myself."

In 1955, he explained, he said he was starting his 10 farewells, so actually this is his third.

MURDERS HER HUSBAND

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Winfred Chambers, 35-year-old mother of 8 children, shot and killed her husband early today at her home in nearby Braddock, homicide detectives reported.

Police said Mrs. Chambers called them and said she had shot her husband. She told them she killed him after he had threatened to kill her with a knife.

The woman was booked on a murder charge.

STOCKS LOWER; TRADING ACTIVE

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregularly lower in active trading early this afternoon with rails, some motors and selected issues making gains.

Among pivotal issues the gains and losses ran mostly from fractions to a point or more.

Oils, nonferrous metals, most chemicals and electrical equipments declined. The trend was slightly higher among rubbers and aircrafts.

The market was in its second day of adjustment after making a new record high. Prices were mixed at the start and the ticker tape was late for two minutes under heavy trading.

Motor shares were moderately higher from the start, encouraged by signing of the labor pact between Ford and the United Auto Workers.

Man Dies In Train Crash; Wife Dies Of Cancer; Four Children Are Made Orphans

RUMSON, N.J. (AP) — The home at 13 Saller's Way was like most other suburban homes. Mr. and Mrs. James Adams lived there with their four sons.

Then, last week, Mrs. Adams entered Monmouth Memorial Hospital.

Her husband, editor-manager of the New York Purchasing Review, would catch a train so that he could be in his office by 9 a.m.

The youngest child, Peter, 18 months, would be left in the care of a baby sitter. The others, James Jr., 15; Steven, 11, and Kurt, 8, would go off to school.

But on Monday, Adams was delayed in getting a baby sitter.

Takes Later Train

He left a little later than usual, taking a later train to New York.

Wednesday his briefcase was found aboard the third coach of a Jersey Central Railroad train that plunged into Newark Bay Monday. His station wagon was traced, and the name of James Adams, 45, was added to the list of those missing and presumed dead in the train wreck.

Mrs. Adams died in the hospital Wednesday night of cancer.

Today, there are four orphans in the suburban home at 13 Saller's Way.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — This watchdog almost did too good a job. Firemen who answered a call at a residence here not only found a stubborn blaze awaiting them but a stubborn Doberman Pinscher.

They had to fight a bedroom fire through a window until a neighbor was able to call the dog away from where he was barring firemen from entering.

Sunday, to Detroit. "By agreement the sports writers traveling with the team kept it secret," said he Post. "Today it leaked out."

Everyone seems to agree on one point — that Duren apparently had been drinking and that there was at least a slight disorder involving the pitcher and the coach. Houk was in his seat, chewing on an unlighted cigar. Duren pushed it into Houk's face.

Ring Catcher Eye
"I never left my seat," said Houk Wednesday when asked about the incident. "I reached up with my hand and brushed him away. My ring caught him around the eye, I guess, but there were no punches and there was no fight."

One of the New York writers said that he, Duren and Houk had breakfast together Monday morning. "They were laughing and talking about their kids," said the writer. "Everything was fine and dandy."

Duren pitched five scoreless innings against Detroit Tuesday, and bore no noticeable signs of battle.

ADAMS CASE IS PACKED WITH DRAMA; NO ONE KNOWS ANSWER

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Whether Sherman Adams quits or stays, it's one of the strangest cases in a long time—packed with drama.

As was the case 10 days ago right after the Republican political disaster in the Maine elections, no one close to President Eisenhower at the summer White House would bet you that Adams will weather the storm and continue as Eisenhower's chief aide.

Those in the inner circle insist they just don't know. What is more, they insist that Eisenhower himself doesn't know—simply because, they say, Adams hasn't told the President.

There is the drama. These presidential lieutenants in Newport have said repeatedly that Eisenhower never will take the initiative and tell Adams he is through. They said Adams will have to make up his own mind.

They picture the wily, white-haired Adams as going through the greatest agony of his 39 years in trying to reach a decision.

The background, of course, is that last June a congressional investigating committee nailed down that Adams had accepted costly gifts and favors from an old friend, Bernard Goldfine, at a time when the Boston industrialist was in trouble before federal regulatory agencies.

Admitted Gifts

Adams acknowledged getting gifts and favors. But he testified he never exerted one whit of influence in behalf of Goldfine. He said he made only routine inquiries about Goldfine's difficulties.

At a Washington news conference June 18, Eisenhower said Adams had been imprudent but that nevertheless "I need him."

That might have ended it, despite the clamor on the part of a good many GOP candidates that Adams had to go.

Maine Shellacking

Then on Sept. 8 in Maine, the Republicans were shellacked by the Democrats. The Goldfine case was an indirect issue there, and GOP candidates in other states set up a new howl for Adams' scalp.

Since that howl started, Eisenhower has been publicly silent. He called the Republican setback in Maine a beating there is no use trying to disguise.

But all indications at the summer White House are that no one close to him knows whether he has changed his mind about Adams having to stay on because "I need him."

Talked By Phone

For the first time since Adams returned to his Washington office Monday after a 10-day vacation, the President and Adams talked Wednesday—by telephone.

They had not consulted since Sept. 6, when Eisenhower interrupted his vacation and returned to the capital for a few hours. That was two days before the Maine elections.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told a Newport news conference the Eisenhower-Adams conversation Wednesday dealt only with government business—that it touched in no way on the big question of whether Adams is in or out.

Earlier in the day, Hagerty said he still had no the slightest indication that Adams might be planning to resign—or that Eisenhower might fire him.

Hagerty put it that way in commenting on Washington reports that GOP leaders had prevailed on Adams to recognize that he was no alternative but to resign for the party's good.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

CARDINALS FIRE HUTCHINSON; NO SUCCESSOR YET

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals fired Manager Fred Hutchinson Wednesday but won't name his successor until the end of the season.

The replacement undoubtedly will be former Cardinal Solly Hemus, known to be the favorite of owner August A. Busch.

In announcing that Hutchinson was out, General Manager Bing Devine said the Cardinals would announce a new manager after the end of the season and before the World Series.

Three Coaches Too

With Hutchinson went his three coaches, Stan Hack, Terry Moore and Al Hollingsworth. Hack agreed to manage the Redbirds until the end of the season. Then he's on his way out of the Cardinal organization, as is Moore, now manager of the Cardinals' farm club at Omaha, and Harry Walker, with the Cardinals' House club.

The only stumbling block in the way of Hemus' selection appeared to be terms the Philadelphia Phils might want for him. At second base for the Phillies, he has been one of the few live wires on that team.

Eddie Stanky, now a coach with the Cleveland Indians, will be with the Cardinals next year. He'll act as a "baseball brain," with a final say on trades, bonus players and rookies.

Lopat Favored

Favored for a pitching coach is Eddie Lopat. Next in line is Sal Maglie. The Cardinals would have to obtain a release of Lopat from the New York Yankees, whose Richmond farm he manages. If he should turn down the job, he can switch from Cardinal player to Cardinal coach.

Hutchinson won't be out of a job very long if he doesn't want to be. Wednesday night he attended the Cardinals game against the Milwaukee Braves, which the Cards won 5-3, with Dewey Soriano, general manager of the Seattle club.

Willing To Pay

Soriano, a long-time friend of Hutchinson's, said, "I've made Hutch such a good offer he'll have a hard time turning it down."

The new coaching staff will probably include Johnny Keane, now manager of the Cardinals' farm club at Omaha, and Harry Walker, with the Cardinals' House club.

The Cardinals are willing to part with a large amount of cash for Hemus, a .289 hitter at 34 years old, but the Phils reportedly want

LITTLESTOWN PTA MEETS IN ROLLING ACRES

"Orientation For The School Year" was the program theme for the first fall meeting of the Littlestown Jointure Parent-Teachers Association, held on Tuesday evening in the general purpose room of the Rolling Acres Elementary School. Paul A. Harner was program chairman.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Aaron Rohrbaugh, secretary; Mrs. George Schaefer, treasurer, and Mrs. Herbert Plunkett, membership chairman.

Budget Approved

The budget was presented by Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, chairman of the committee, which also includes Mrs. George Schaefer, Mrs. Beaven F. Hanlon, Mrs. Harry Weisel and Ray T. Harner, and the budget was adopted as presented. The president read a note of thanks from Joyce Barnes, 1958 graduate who received the PTA scholarship award for future teachers. It was announced that Rolling Acres T-shirts are available, and can be secured from any member of the budget committee by interested parents.

John H. Riley, principal of the elementary school, spoke, noting that there are 693 children in the first six grades and that a foreign language introduced in the third grade last year, would be continued. He asked that parents in the borough do not send their children to school until 8:05 a.m., the time when the safety patrol goes on duty.

Emphasis On Science

Frank E. Basehoar, high school principal, spoke regarding the Junior-Senior High curriculum, noting that French has been started in 10th grade this year and another language will be introduced next year. He said that special emphasis is being placed on mathematics and science. He reported enrollment of 543 students in the Junior-Senior High. He also explained the operation of the cafeteria and the meaning of a closed lunch period.

The program on Monday included a vocal solo, "The Lord Has Given Me A Song," by LaRue O. Epler, of the faculty, accompanied by Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, of the faculty. Mrs. Deardorff also accompanied for group singing, and Epler was song leader.

Ruth Chatterton, Former Star, Now Serious Writer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — When a movie queen or stage star suddenly starts writing, the result is usually a memoir or tall tale, full of show business lore, about Hollywood or Broadway. And the cynical reader instantly suspects the presence of a ghost or press agent.

No one, however, has ever suggested the existence of a hirling spook in the literary life of Ruth Chatterton, a stage star at 15 and, once the movies found a voice, one of its brightest femmes fatales and biggest money makers.

Eight years ago Miss Chatterton's first novel, "Homeward Borne," was published. It was concerned, not with the theater world she knows so well, but with anti-Semitism—and it turned out to be a best seller. Since then she has written three more novels, each on a more or less controversial subject. There was one about the Senate investigations at the time of the McCarthy furor; another about divorce and broken homes, and now there is "The Southern Wild," dealing with problems of integration.

And today Miss Chatterton, still a little surprised at the whole thing, considers herself primarily a novelist although she takes an occasional fling at the theater.

A fourth generation New Yorker, Miss Chatterton lives with her husband, Barry Thomson, in an old house set in the middle of 17 secluded acres just beyond the commuting area in southern Connecticut.

Raises Poodles

In addition to writing and taking an occasional holiday by acting in summer theaters, she is interested in raising French poodles.

She was in her early teens when she started her theater career—on the dare of a playmate. A friend goaded her into trying out for a child's part—a chocolate ice cream soda was at stake—and little Ruth accepted the dare. She got the part and stayed with the repertory company.

A short time later she made her Broadway debut and became a big star in "Daddy Long Legs." After that came a succession of big hits and Miss Chatterton was firmly established in the Broadway galaxy. In 1929 she made her first motion picture—which was one of the last of the great silent films, "The Sins of the Fathers," with Emil Jennings. Her first dip into movies was impeccably timed: the talkies were just coming in and Miss Chatterton, unlike so many of the other stars, could talk.

Disliked Movie Making

Miss Chatterton recalls few films of which she is proud—one was Susan Glaspell's "Brooke Evans" which reached the screen as "The Right To Love." One of her biggest money makers was a little horror called "Frisco Jennie," and she was a great success in both "Dodsworth" and "Madame X."

"I hated motion picture work," she says firmly. "In those days you didn't make as much money as people thought, and even then there were taxes and agents and press agents to pay. And if one star had a Cadillac, you had to have two Cadillacs. Silly."

It was a period, too, when Miss Chatterton had two unhappy marriages, first to actor Ralph Forbes and then to actor George Brent. Both ended in divorce.

Her distaste for Hollywood overflowed in 1936 and she came back east. She starred in several successful Broadway plays and was acclaimed in London for "The Constant Wife."

As for her writing, she says enthusiastically, "It is hard work but satisfying, and I suppose I shouldn't say it, but I like writing. After all, it seems to me that the training of an actor is ideal for a writer. Acting stimulates the imagination, sharpens the ear to catch accents and ways of speech—and we are disciplined to emphasize dramatic moments. I think we should be the best writers of all—if we can write."

Summer cottage cooks: You'll find it's convenient to have dried minced onion on hand. It can usually be added "as is" to dishes.

Some of these youngsters pictured at Mud College along the Gettysburg-Littlestown Rd. 38 years ago are expected to be on hand Sunday when the annual school reunion is held there at 2 p.m. The picture above was taken during the 1920-21 school year when Ira Y. Baker, center at rear, later an Adams County superintendent of schools and now teaching in Maryland, was the teacher. In the back row, left to right, are: Glenn Bowers, Paul Crouse, Kenneth Stair, Elvin Miller, Lawrence Crist, Kenneth Conover, Bud Crouse, Clarence Stair, Earl Mumford, Vernon Snyder, Robert Crouse, Genevieve Wintrode, Clinton Rineman, Alta Crouse, Esta Miller and Goldie Bucher. In the front row are: Woodrow Crouse, George Crouse, Bernard Crouse, Dennis Epley, Samuel Conover, Catherine Conover, Dorothy Snyder, unknown, Treva Mumford and Ruth Newmann. Paul Snyder, not shown in the photo above, also was enrolled there that year.

T. R. INSPIRED STRONG WORDS

THE ERA OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT. By George E. Mowry. Harper. $5.

It was during the first 12 years of the 20th Century that the United States clearly emerged as a world power. Those years also were marked by aggressive federal action to deal with social-economic ferment on the domestic scene. These were the years largely dominated at home, and to a considerable extent overseas, by the personality of Theodore Roosevelt.

In "The Era of Theodore Roosevelt," the latest book in "The New American Nation Series," the author says: "Few presidents have evoked more contradictory emotions and conflicting judgments among his followers than Theodore Roosevelt. The man simply inspired strong words. To an adoring William Allen White he was a paragon of moral and intellectual values. Henry Adams assigned to him 'the singular primitive quality . . . that medieval theology assigned to God'—he was pure act. Others spoke in angry tones of his 'ambitious, impudent and arrogant' character, full of 'brutal fury and coarse violence.' Henry Demarest Lloyd called him an 'atavism . . . with much the same appetite for the spread of ideas by explosion which Napoleon had.'"

Now, after the lapse of nearly half a century, during which other presidents like his cousin Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman took over the progressive movement and advanced the social revolution in America, scholars are reappraising Theodore Roosevelt. Author Mowry condenses his study of the man and his times into 295 pages. He achieves objectivity for the most part, although admiration for the Rooseveltian energy is obvious. He writes deploredly of Theodore Roosevelt's ruthlessness in foreign affairs.

Particularly penetrating is the author's analysis of the changes in American thought patterns around and immediately after the turn of the century, providing the intellectual background for the emergence and successful presidential career of such a man as T. R.

WORKING BREAK SUBSTITUTES FOR COFFEE BREAK

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
The Associated Press

The president of a large firm unexpectedly walked into one of the company offices recently and found, although it was shortly after 10 a.m., the place empty except for one stenographer. The staff happily wandered in a few minutes later—a few of the 28 million Americans who had enjoyed a new workday custom, the coffee break.

Some employers take a dim view of morning and afternoon refreshment periods for obvious reasons, but the custom is so popular that most of them have, perforce, given in. To avoid a sometimes empty office, many firms have installed coffee vending machines or permit coffee and snack vendor to roll a cart through the premises twice a day.

One Eastern printer has been doing a brisk business selling cards which have been popping up in offices in the area. They say, in bold black letters:

New Policy

To All Employees:
"Due to increased competition and the keen desire to remain in business, we find it necessary to institute a new policy.

"Effective immediately we are asking that somewhere between starting and quitting time and without infringing too much on the time devoted to lunch period, coffee breaks, rest periods, story telling, ticket-selling, golfing, auto racing, horse selections, window-gazing, vacation-planning and rehashing of yesterday's TV programs, that each employee try to find some time that can be set aside and be known hereafter as The Work Break."

There may be some employers who wish the morning and afternoon coffee break (it's called a coffee break even if you're a tea or soft drink imbibing) were outlawed, and there certainly are numbers of coffee-breakers who find that a couple of extra snack periods add to weight problems. But the custom has growing acceptance—particularly where it is organized—and among some employers who find that refreshment picks up flagging workers and actually pays off in more work.

Regardless of its merits or demerits, the coffee break seems here to stay—and it is making such people as snack manufacturers and, above all, the coffee industry very, very happy.

A recent survey indicated that currently 70 million cups of coffee are being consumed daily in coffee breaks. Drinkers include 42 per cent of men with jobs, 44 per cent of women with jobs and 27 per cent of all housewives (who used to call their mid-morning coffee a kaffeeklatch, but no more).

Morning Most Popular.

The morning coffee break remains the more popular of the two usual periods—51 per cent of the breakers participate in the morning session. Sixteen per cent go for an afternoon cup, and 39 per cent sip on both occasions. This activity adds up to about three cups a day—a cup and one-half on an average, morning and afternoon.

Apparently, there is still considerable organization work to be done in the break field: 30 per cent of the drinkers are still running out to restaurants and eating places. However, 43 per cent are buying beverages from carts and 17 per cent in company cafeterias.

STUDENTS LIVE IN A WINDMILL

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—For atmosphere, consider the quarters of two women graduate students at Bowling Green State University. They live in a windmill.

Inside, 22-year-old Roberta Simone and 23-year-old Kathleen Vogt enjoy a marine decor with brass railings and shipstyle ladders between the three floors.

They study to the gentle lapping of a tree-rimmed pond behind the mill and the creaking of the four chained-down vane.

"About the only disadvantage," says Roberta, "is the number of campus visitors who spot this place on weekends and peek in the windows as if we were in a glass cage."

The windmill was built in the 1930s with two ideas in mind. It was to house a pump for a proposed fountain in the pond and add glamor to a chimney which rises through the center of the structure from a heating plant below ground level.

The fountain never materialized and last year individual heating units replaced the central heat system which had served nearby duplex homes.

NEW ERA CERAMIC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aircraft industry efforts to find materials that will withstand the tremendous heat-friction encountered by future aircraft, spacecraft and missiles already have produced some remarkable results.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Assn., says a ceramic has been developed that will maintain its properties in 5,000 degree heat. Called Galceram, its strength persists through both rapid and gradual temperature changes.

HINTS ON HOW TO BUY A USED SEWING MACHINE

By DOROTHY ROE

The Associated Press

Beginning seamstresses or people of limited budgets often buy a used sewing machine, just as beginning drivers often start out with a used car.

In buying sewing machines, as in buying cars, it pays to know what to look for. If you do you often can pick up a real bargain, getting a machine that will give many years of good service. Here are some tips:

1. The first rule is to buy from a reputable manufacturer, one who is known for quality. If possible, buy from the retail outlet that sold the machine when it was new.

2. Remember that a top quality machine will give far more service, even after resale, than a machine that was no good to start with. Though a low-quality machine may seem to sew well when it is new, differences in quality begin to show before many months.

3. When selecting a brand of machine, go to a dealer who has a good assortment and look at all available models. Do not be distracted by scarred woodwork in a cabinet model, since the wood can be repaired and the machine head is the important part of the purchase.

4. Conversely, don't be misled by a poor machine in a handsome cabinet. Try to get a machine head with a round bobbin, avoiding the old long shuttle type. A belt drive is preferable to a friction drive. Long shuttle and friction drive denote an older machine.

5. A good machine should be fully serviced before you buy it, and a reputable manufacturer will guarantee a used machine for satisfactory performance. Here are some points to look for, to tell whether it has been serviced:

Check Points

Look at the condition of belt and wiring, and be sure the insulation has not worn out. Examine the bobbin case for lint and dust. Look at the motor brushes and request that they be replaced if they are worn. Check the appearance of various parts of the machine to make sure they look new and serviceable. Remember that scratches on the head of the machine won't hurt its stitching ability.

6. Before making a final decision, run the machine at slow and fast speeds and at various stitch lengths. Make sure that replaced parts were made by the same manufacturer as the original machine.

The more service a manufacturer will give on a used machine, the more faith he has in his product. One manufacturer even gives free sewing lessons to buyers of used machines.

Remember that it is to your advantage to select the best used machine you can find. When you buy a new machine you will want to trade in your old one — and a good used machine will retain a high trade-in value.

Delightful "Mikado" Rules Again In New Recording

By HUGH MULLIGAN

The Associated Press

After more than 70 years, the mythical town of Titipu remains as droll and delightful as the day W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan created it as the setting for their enchanting operetta, "The Mikado."

Legend hath it that a Japanese sword fell one day from the wall in Gilbert's study and inspired the chorus of a benevolent Mikado who, in the interests of monogamy, decreed that all young men:

"Who flirted, leered or winked, unless conubially linked, should henceforth be beheaded."

Regarded by many as Gilbert and Sullivan's greatest work, "The Mikado" has been excellently recorded once again by London Records with the D'Oyly Carte Company and the New Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Isidor Godfrey.

Cast Entirely Different

With the exception of Alan Styler, who repeats his role as Fish-Tush, the cast is an entirely different one from the London recording of eight years ago and, in some respects, not as good.

Peter Pratt makes an amusingly timid Lord High Executioner, but lacks the sparkle and zany charm of Martyn Green, who for many years was identified with the role and sang it in the original London recording.

Thomas Round and Jean Hindmarsh are an appealing pair of chopping block-crossed lovers; Beryl Dixon is a properly piquant Pettig-Sing and Kenneth Sandford a most grandiloquent Pooh-Bah, but Donald Adams and Ann Drummond Grant, as the Mikado and his daughter-in-law-elect, do not measure up to their predecessors in the original recording.

The differences in cast, however, do not keep the new version from being overwhelmingly superior to every previous recording. The chorus and orchestra, in particular, never sounded better and seem to have taken every advantage of the many technical hi-fi gains made in recent years.

Only Editing Done

Their perfect phrasing and dictation practically make the printed libretto unnecessary, which is a blessing, since the one that London includes in the two-record album fails to take into account the several passages that have been omitted in the interest of saving space.

The only editing done involves classics and jazz. The flip side features a symphonic suite of the music from Gershwin's opera

"Porgy And Bess," arranged by Robert Russell Bennett, one of the most gifted arrangers in the business.

TAPES RECORD WORLD SOUNDS

NOEL, Va. (AP) — Charles E.

Owen Jr. can sit in his home here in the pine woods of Hanover County and listen to the world's strange sounds and many of its voices.

Owen is a state highway department engineer. But he is also secretary of the Voiceopendone Club whose members in 44 states and some 40 foreign countries correspond by tape recordings.

Two Major Recordings

Savoyards everywhere will thrill to Jean Hindmarsh's soaring soprano in the lilting "Poor Wandering One" love song of the first act and again in the famous "Ah, Leave Me Not To Pine Alone" number in the second act. These two arias alone give the new "Pirates" an edge over all others.

Two other major recordings out this month are worthy of mention:

Moussorgsky's "Pictures At An Exhibition" (RCA Victor), sensitively performed by Fritz Reiner and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and given the full hi-fi treatment.

Gershwin's "An American In Paris" (Mercury) with Antal Dorati

and the Minneapolis Symphony

Orchestra joyously presiding over the first successful wedding of classics and jazz. The flip side kinds and occasional skits.

A good many of the 1,200 members of the club are blind or otherwise physically handicapped. Owen estimates the figure at 15 to 20 per cent.

Owen and his wife Melva, are both electronic sound buffs and manage to devote some 60 hours a week between them to the club.

They handle membership work of the club and publish its directory and magazine, a chatty quarterly called the Voiceopendone.

Owen is a state highway department engineer. But he is also secretary of the Voiceopendone Club whose members in 44 states and some 40 foreign countries correspond by tape recordings.

Hence the strange sounds —

— sounds of night in a South African jungle; a fish bumping the diving helmet of a man walking along a lake bottom; railroad sounds from all over the world; western saddle songs sung by an Irishman born in Scotland; a drill cutting in a New York den.

The offbeat sounds make up only a small part of the tape correspondence. Mainly the mail brings tapes containing chit-chat, serious discussion, music of all classics and jazz. The flip side

features a symphonic suite of

the music from Gershwin's opera

SAY PROXMIRE IS VULNERABLE IN WISCONSIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican strategists apparently have decided their best chance of defeating a Democratic senator lies in an all-out effort against Sen. William Proxmire in Wisconsin.

Field reports to the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee have pictured Proxmire as the most vulnerable of 13 Democratic senators whose seats are at stake in November. Proxmire was elected last year after GOP Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy died.

Although the Republicans are reluctant to talk about it, their surveys are said to show no other contest giving their party what they regard as an even chance of picking up a seat from the Democrats.

Lost One Seat

Since they already have lost one seat in Maine, the GOP campaigners would have to hold the remaining 20 they have at stake and gain two others to be in a position to control the new Senate. In such circumstances they could do this with Vice President Nixon's tie-breaking vote.

Democrats outnumbered Republicans 48-47 before GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne was beaten in Maine.

Republican hopes of defeating Proxmire rest in uniting party strength behind Roland J. Steine, their nominee, in a state that ordinarily is counted in the GOP column.

GOP Perking Up

The Republicans have been perked up somewhat by canvasses elsewhere. These indicate to them that some of the seats they now hold may not be in as much danger as they believed after Payne went down in Maine.

Privately Republican lieutenants say they regard only six GOP seats as certainly safe—those in Nebraska, Ohio, North Dakota, Delaware, Wyoming and Vermont. They are only a little less certain, however, about Utah and Nevada. They are frankly worried about Indiana.

Reports from field workers indicate that GOP prospects have been looking up recently in Arizona, California, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and in West Virginia, where two GOP places are being contested.

Uphill For Potter

There has been no such cheering news, however, from Michigan, where GOP Sen. Charles E. Potter apparently is fighting a tough, uphill battle.

Republican hopes of holding on to the seat Sen. Irving M. Ives is vacating in New York have been raised by nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as the party's candidate for governor, as well as the choice of Rep. Kenneth B. Keating as nominee for the Senate.

FAUBUS ANGERS PRESBYTERIANS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus Tuesday attacked segments of the clergy as left-wingers and repeated his defiance of the federal government in Little Rock's seething integration dispute.

Faubus told a newsman, in reply to a question about some Presbyterian ministers' opposition to his policies, that he knew a large number of pastors in that church had been brainwashed by left-wingers and Communists.

He added that he firmly believed some clergymen were supporters of Communists' views.

Angered by the charge, a group of Arkansas Presbyterian ministers and laymen issued a denial and a demand for Faubus' apology.

RED ADVANCES DUE TO SPIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's research chief contends that Soviet technological advances are due more to success in espionage and subversion than to their scientific apparatus.

Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau made the statement Tuesday in addressing a group charged with keeping spies out of plants. He urged full cooperation in preventing leaks of vital information.

Trudeau, a former chief of Army intelligence, told a convention of the American Society for Industrial Security he wished he could speak more freely on the topic, using some recent cases. But he said he couldn't do it publicly.

Trudeau, now chief of research and development for the Army, said Soviet espionage is both legal and illegal.

The legal kind is that conducted by a military or commercial attaché or a member of a trade commission or visiting cultural group—all with diplomatic status.

PRESIDENT TO HOST LUNCHEON

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower will be host at a Washington luncheon next Tuesday for the foreign ministers of 20 Latin-American nations.

The summer White House said there has been no decision yet whether the return to the capital by plane will mark the end of the work-vacation Eisenhower started in this resort area Aug. 29.

The foreign ministers of the Organization of American States member nations will attend a White House stag luncheon. Secretary of State Dulles and other top administration officials and congressional leaders of both parties also will attend.

Cold, bleak weather after an early morning rain kept Eisenhower off the golf course temporarily today. The President went to his office at the naval base

JOBLESS PAY IN PENNA. SET NEW HIGH IN AUGUST

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Commonwealth added up the cost of joblessness today and found Pennsylvania paid out more than $42 million dollars in unemployment compensation last month, highest in its history.

"If the recession is ending, it's not ending in Pennsylvania according to our latest figures," said Paul J. Smith, acting executive director of the State Employment Security Bureau.

The unemployment compensation fund, financed by employer payroll taxes, is already down to 183½ millions compared to 344½ millions at the start of 1958. The new figure is a record low.

To Reach Ceiling

Smith flatly predicted that all employer payroll taxes would jump to the 2.7 per cent ceiling next Jan. 1 to help bolster the dwindling fund. The present average is 1.9 per cent and only last year it was 1.6 per cent.

The boost would affect some 27,000 employers who are now enjoying the minimum payroll tax of eight-tenths of 1 per cent. About 74,000 firms out of 196,000 that pay unemployment compensation taxes are at the 2.7 per cent ceiling right now. The rate is determined by the labor turnover in the particular firm.

Smith said the economic disaster that overtakes the unemployed was considerably lessened by the new federal plan authorizing extra jobless benefits for those who have exhausted their regular benefits.

25,000 Exhaust Benefits

Since July 1 when the program became operative, Smith said, more than 15½ million dollars in

Youths Terrorize Community Dance

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A mob of yelling, cursing teen-agers armed with clubs, knives and a shotgun terrorized a community center dance Tuesday night.

The youths slashed tires and smashed windows of automobiles parked outside the Whatsoever Circle Community House before police broke up the demonstration.

Officers arrested 25 boys. All were released after receiving summonses.

All those arrested are white, as were those at the dance.

The superintendent of the community house said the gang had been intimidating teen-agers during dances all summer. Previous disturbances had been broken up before the youngsters got out of hand, he said.

extra benefits were paid out to some 60,000 workers on the basis of checks of up to $35 a week for 15 weeks.

These checks went to idle workers who used up regular benefits of up to $35 a week for 30 weeks.

The benefit exhaustion rate last month also hit a record high with 25,100 workers running out of regular unemployment compensation checks and turning to the supplemental benefits for further help.

479,000 Lack Jobs

"Our jobless benefits load is just as high now as it was during April and May," Smith told a newsmen. "The temporary unemployment compensation plan was a godsend to these unemployed people."

The over-all unemployment figure in Pennsylvania is now estimated at about 479,000, 10 per cent of the labor force and 80 per cent higher than for the same time last year.

VA HAS MACHINE TO READ PRINT TO BLIND FOLK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration has announced development of a machine it can read printed material to blind persons.

The sounds the device gives out are not the words of ordinary speech, but patterns of musical tones similar to the chords of an organ. The blind person must learn to interpret these sounds into letters and words.

Based on tests during the last year, the VA said a trained user ultimately should reach a reading speed of 15 to 30 words a minute. But it cautioned that both the device itself and training methods for using it must be developed further before quantity production of the machine can be started.

The entire machine is about the size and shape of a portable radio. A scanning unit, which is held in the hand and moved along a line of printed matter, throws a pattern of light on photoelectric cells. These in turn set up sound patterns which vary with the black and white of the printed words and letters.

Electrical Trouble Stymied Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An electrical malfunction probably stymied Tuesday's attempt to launch a Vanguard satellite rocket—something superficial like a broken wire, a source here said.

The 72-foot rocket blazed into action, but an engine cutoff automatically occurred just before the missile was due to blast skyward.

A composite three-stage Vanguard has been fired six times, but the only success came March 17 when a 6.4 inch sphere weighing 3½ pounds was shot into an orbit that may last two centuries.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Seventh-Day Adventists, who customarily tithe at least 10 per cent of their income, have increased their contributions to the church an extra 5 per cent in the first six months of 1958. Total giving for the period is $18,092,398 compared to $17,203,567 in the first six months of 1957.

The first meeting of the Mother Seton School PTA for the 1958-1959 school year was held last Thursday evening in the school cafeteria, with the president, Curtis Topper, presiding. These officers were elected: President, from St. Rita's Parish, Blue Ridge Summit, Mark Lannon; vice president, Mt. Carmel Parish, Thurmont, Carmel Kelly; secretary, St. Anthony's Parish, Emmitsburg, Mrs. Albert Wivell, and treasurer, St. Joseph's Parish, Emmitsburg, Robert Koonz.

PROMISES MORE STATE PARKS

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh says that if elected governor he will continue a program to provide more parks.

At a Democratic dinner in Butler Tuesday night, Lawrence pledged to continue Gov. Leader's plan for locating a state park within 25 miles of every Pennsylvania family.

"It is my goal," Lawrence said, "to provide a state park within an hour's drive by auto for every family in the Commonwealth."

Lawrence said the 8,000-acre Portersville site in Butler County, which has been selected for a new state park, is a "model in every phase of park planning." He called it a "typical example" of planning that is making the state's park system one of the finest in the United States.

Meanwhile, at Harrisburg, Leader accused Republicans of opposing good government except at election time. He said the GOP buried his legislative plan to register lobbyists.

President Topper stated that at the last meeting of the executive committee the fall festival had been discussed and the tentative date of October 4 was set. This date was approved by the association.

President Topper also reminded the parents and the PTA meetings are held on the second Tuesday each month and that the dues of $1 per family per year are now payable.

Sister Francis, principal, expressed her wish that this year there will be parent-teacher aides. Sister explained that the mothers who volunteer will help with various activities, such as the weighing and measuring of each child at the beginning and end of the school year, school insurance papers, Catholic Review Drive, supervising of the playground, etc.

Any parent who can type or do clerical work will be helpful in the office, she said.

President Topper thanked the parents and the sisters for "fine cooperation during the past year" and asked the new officers to take their respective places.

Mrs. Kathleen Shorb was named historian. She is the first to hold this office.

Sister Francis congratulated the outgoing officers and welcomed the new ones, expressing her gratitude to all for "splendid cooperation during the past year."

She promised in the name of all the sisters to do all possible for the children during the coming year.

She reminded the parents, who have more than one child in school, that there should be no comparing of marks because of the differences in children. If the parents see a need for it, she said, the sisters will be happy to have a private conference with the family or any member of the family.

Parents should feel free to come before or after school hours to talk with the teachers regarding their children, she added.

Sadler's Wells Ballet Top Name In Britain Takes Exit

By NORMAN MOSS

LONDON (AP) — "Royal Ballet Company," the posters say. And underneath, in brackets, are the words, "Sadler's Wells Ballet."

The brackets that now enclose that famous name are like a shroud in which it will one day be buried. For the name "Sadler's Wells," which is synonymous with British ballet, is disappearing from the ballet world.

Administratively speaking, it vanished in January, 1957. The two Sadler's Wells ballet companies merged into one, the Royal Ballet Company, with headquarters at London's Royal Opera House, Covent Garden.

Opera Takes Over

The Sadler's Wells Theater, a fine building in an unfashionable part of North London, was turned over entirely to opera.

Today Sadler's Wells looks at its ballet companies — now under patronage of the Queen — proudly and perhaps wistfully, like a parent regarding daughters who have married well, moved into a better part of town and acquired a new social milieu.

British ballet grew up at the Sadler's Wells Theater. Dame Ninette de Valois — she was made a dame by Queen Elizabeth for her services to British dancing — began ballet there in 1931 with six dancers. The theater had just been rebuilt over the old 17th Century well which gave the site its name.

In those days audiences were limited to a few devotees and socialites who wanted to affect cosmopolitan tastes. Ballet was like bull fighting. So foreign, in fact, that Britons entering ballet de-Anglicized their names. Edris Stannus became Ninette de Valois. Alice Marks became Alicia Markova. Peggy Hookham became Margot Fonteyn.

Meat Market Used For Colorful Jail

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The temporary jail here may not have all the comforts of home but it is at least colorful. There is a yellow tint called bamboo for the main structure, a silver smoke-gray for the base. Pinehurst green for the trim and a delicate beige for the terracotta bull head ornaments.

The city jail was demolished to make way for an expressway and an old meat market is serving as the temporary bastille.

With the Sadler's Wells triumphs overseas, Britons realized they had a new national institution in which to take pride. The craze died, but ballet still fills an aver-

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — Mrs. Sally Wolford, Reading, and her daughter, Mrs. Harold Baitman, Norristown, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hinkie and Rachel Gochenour. Mrs. Wolford is Miss Gochenour's aunt. Her childhood home was back of the Rock Chapel Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Lobaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barbour, Mrs. Whitecomb and Paul Miller toured Mt. Vernon and Washington, D. C., on Sunday.

At Covent Garden the Royal Ballet Company still has a Sadler's Wells flavor. The doting and inimitable mother of British ballet, Dame Ninette, is director.

Both opera and ballet at Covent Garden are administered by a board of directors appointed by the government. They are also government subsidized.

But this is not enough to free them of financial troubles. Not long ago the Arts Council published a real-life melodrama entitled "Art in the Red." The plot is summarized in the title.

Recruiters Donate Blood For Enlistee

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — The U.S. Marines made a special effort to get Stephen Elsinger into the corps.

He passed the written examination but a physical checkup showed the 18-year-old had a serious lung disorder. He was sent home with advice that an operation was necessary.

The operation was arranged but Elsinger needed five pints of blood. Marine recruiters at Louisville, 200 miles away, soon had the situation well in hand. Five donated a pint each.

Elsinger will be sworn in soon.

Tradition Built

A tradition of British ballet was built up at Sadler's Wells, around a nucleus of people who had worked with foreign companies. De Valois, for example, had danced with the Russian Diaghilev Company.

The sudden boom in ballet came during the war. People wanted beauty to replace the grimness around them and something deep-reaching enough to transcend their fears. Ballet provided both.

Audiences reached a saturation point in the immediate postwar years. Appreciation had spread wide, but ballet also became something of a craze in youthful circles.

With the Sadler's Wells triumphs overseas, Britons realized they had a new national institution in which to take pride. The craze died, but ballet still fills an aver-

Civil War Artists Sketches Are Found

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A Madison garage has yielded a collection of original battlefield sketches and field note books of a once widely-known Civil War artist, Raymond Simplot, whose grandfather, Alexander Simplot, sketched war scenes for Harper's Weekly magazine, found the material and turned it over to the Wisconsin Historical Society.

The sketches were made between April, 1861, and Jan. 10, 1863, of events in the war along the Mississippi River.

Brownies Meet

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tony Hostetter brought his family here from Nashville, Tenn., and dropped into an appliance store to visit friends.

Five-year-old son Tony Jr. slipped to the rear of the store, saw an electric golf car, boarded it and pressed a button.

It took off in reverse and banged against two electric stoves, two refrigerators and an air conditioner before a brick wall halted it.

Damage: about $1,200 to the appliances; none to Tony and very little to the cart.

BRIE CHARGE TO BE PROBED BY GRAND JURY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Federal grand jury next month will probe reports that bribes from racketeers have been accepted by high Pittsburgh police officials.

In ordering the investigation, U. S. Atty. Hubert L. Teitelbaum said Tuesday that he has "reliable information that some high brass in the department have been taking bribes for a long time." He added:

"I don't want to name names now. It is too early to reveal the full story. This is the first time we have been able to find out who was involved."

Both Safety Director Louis Rosenberg and Police Supt. James Slusser indicated they would be happy to cooperate with the federal government.

According to Teitelbaum the grand jury also will be asked to consider indicting Henry Katz and Chester Stupak for failure to obtain a federal gambling tax stamp.

"The grand jury will be asked to determine who paid bribes, who received them and how much was paid and when."

The opera, "Mignon," is based on Goethe's "Wilhelm Meister."

In Korea, Formosa and Japan some 2,000 deaths have been reported from the disease.

MONTRÉAL (AP) — Mama and Papa Dionne made plans today for the baptism of the first child born to one of their famous quintuplets.

Cecile gave birth Monday night to a chubby, black-haired boy. With the proud grandparents standing as godparents for the baptism next Sunday, the baby will be christened Claude after a middle name of his father, Philippe Langlois.

LONDON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev says the Soviet policy is to see that "no imperialist boot should trample the soil" of the United Arab Republic, Moscow radio said Wednesday.

"We do not conceal our interest in the affairs of the United Arab Republic," Khrushchev said. "The only thing we want is that friendship between our countries should grow."

The broadcast, quoting from an article in the government paper Izvestia, said economic and cultural cooperation between the Soviet Union and the U.A.R. is gaining.

DUNKERQUE, FRANCE (AP) — Communist demonstrators Tuesday night prevented war-Premier Paul Reynaud from delivering a campaign speech in favor of the new constitution proposed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle. The demonstrators created such an uproar that police had to empty the hall. There were no casualties.

MISS DIETRICH TO BE ON RADIO 'MONITOR' SOON

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Marlene Dietrich, a woman of philosophical mind whom men seldom view philosophically, will launch a weekend radio program Oct. 4 in which she answers listeners' inquiries on life, love and the pursuit of happiness.

Her throaty voice will be heard in a series of four-minute time spots on NBC Radio's "Monitor."

"I'll answer only questions I know something about," she said the other day, "and only serious questions. I can summarize everything that I basically say with three words: Do your duty."

Life Is Hard

Miss Dietrich, who is as beautiful as ever, said that she already has received more than 500 letters from people ranging from teenagers to octogenarians in response to an NBC announcement of her program. A great many are from people who say they are lonely. "All people are often lonely," she said. "I'm often lonely. What really is so bad about that?"

In this country too many people try to crawl from the ages-old fact that life is hard. They are not to blame because they were brought up to believe that life should be a bed of roses.

Depression Not Unusual

"But in Europe people are brought up with the idea that life is hard and so they're better equipped to take it when they face it."

Many people write and say that something must be wrong with them because they get depressed. I wish they could understand that stupid, cold people are the only ones who never are depressed. I am often depressed. All sensitive people often are, and only the sensitive learn the deeper and more valuable things of life.

Interested In Young Mothers

"I hope to tell them that depression is a part of life. And you should not try to push life from you." She thrust her hands out quickly and drolly mimicked a neurotic woman. "You should not have that frantic 'I've got to do something about it' attitude, that need to do something or have a drink to escape from where you are."

She smiled suddenly, "We come back, don't we, to the three words? Do your duty—and stop worrying about how you feel."

As a mother and a grandmother, Miss Dietrich is interested in the dilemma of bewildered young mothers who read books offering advice contrary to what they learned from their own mothers.

"They have nobody to talk to," she said. "And that is true of many, many people. They lack someone to talk to. I hope that can communicate with them."

It seems certain that she will.

P. E. A. ELECTS

PIITSBURGH (AP) — A. D. Root of Allentown, vice president of the Penn. Power & Light Co., is the new president of the Pennsylvania Electric Assn.

Root was elected Wednesday at the opening of the association's 51st annual two-day convention.

G. R. Parry of Reading, Walter J. Lyman of Pittsburgh and Park R. Lawson of Johnstown were named vice presidents.

Yellow vegetables, which should be included in the daily diet, are high in vitamin A.

STATE AID FOR PA.'S LIBRARY SYSTEM URGED

HARRISBURG (AP) — A special study report on Pennsylvania's library needs recommends that a state-aided library system be set up at a cost of up to $12 million dollars a year.

Ralph Blasingame, state librarian, said this unprecedented recommendation, and others, would be made to Gov. Leader's Commission on Libraries next Monday when the report is presented to the 24-member group. The study was made by a commission staff headed by Dr. Lowell Martin, dean of Rutgers University's Graduate Library School.

The crux of the proposal is that existing major libraries be used as centers around which local libraries would be organized, on a voluntary basis, in areas where there are no libraries or where the libraries are substandard.

2 Dozen District Centers

At the keystone of the system would be the Philadelphia Free Library, the Carnegie Library in Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania State University Library and the State Library here. Under them the survey group recommended that some two dozen or more libraries be organized as district centers.

Blasingame said the study suggested that Pennsylvania could establish for $1.90 a person a system comparable to what the American Library Assn. says should be done for $2.50. He said the present per capita expenditures is 83 cents.

The group suggests that the state contribute about 25 per cent of the cost, he added. Based on current population estimates, full realization of the system would mean an 11 million dollar biennial appropriation from the legislature.

CITES NEED FOR PROMOTION OF PA. AGRICULTURE

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Citing a need for agricultural development, Democratic gubernatorial candidate David L. Lawrence pledges to start an advertising and promotion program for the state's farm products.

In an address Wednesday night to a rally in this Crawford County seat, the Pittsburgh mayor said: "Whey shouldn't we point proudly to Crawford County buckwheat and the maple products of Somerset County and the mushrooms, the apples, the potatoes and the grapes which are bountifully produced by Pennsylvania's farmlands?"

Opportunities Needed

Lawrence said that we must make sure that the farm family everywhere in Pennsylvania has opportunities in education, public health and library services and community facilities. He added:

"We must support adequately the programs of research and disease control, working toward the days when additional regional laboratories can be established to help local veterinarians give better service."

Touching on the current recession, Lawrence called the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority the "state's Number One weapon" in fighting the slump.

The work of this authority in creating 54,000 new jobs in Pennsylvania during the past three years, Lawrence said, "is the one bright spot in the Commonwealth's unemployment picture."

FREE LANCE LAWMEN
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sheriff L. C. Boles has turned down an offer of help from two prospective lawmen. They wrote him:

"We are starting a police station and we need your permission to put people in our jail."

The two jailers are 13 and 10. Sheriff Boles thanked them for their interest and promised to send a deputy to show how they can be of help but said he's happy with his present jail system.

OLD SAW PROVED AGAIN
CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — A Great Falls, Mont., youth believes it pays to advertise.

He inserted this personal ad in a Casper newspaper: "Will attend Air National Guard camp, Casper, Aug. 16-31. Would like correspondence with interested female party. Am 21 and single."

He reports six replies and is looking forward to his Casper visit.

SCHOOL RELIGION ATTACKED
NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the Union of American Hebrew congregations charged that an emerging "public-school religion" is watering down genuine religious differences.

In a booklet issued by the Social Action Commission of the Reform Judaism body, it is contended that the trend is threatening the American tradition of separation of church and state.

Tanks Still Play Important Role In National Defense

By RAY SHAW

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — The mustached Army sergeant watched the tank churning red dirt clouds into the summer breeze.

"Armor," he said crisply, "is tougher than ever. It's coming into its own now . . . in this nuclear age."

There he paused.

M. Sgt. Robert H. Thomas, four rows of campaign ribbons on his chest, waited for an argument. He's well aware that many see the bulky, comparatively slow tanks as a sitting duck in a nuclear war.

But Thomas argued:

"In that tank you're afforded protection against nuclear radiation, heat and blast."

"The skin on that tank is lots thicker than the shirt on a dog's back."

Adaptable Force

Brig. Gen. James I. King, the assistant Ft. Knox commandant, puts it more formally:

"Armor is the type force adaptable to both atomic or non-atomic war."

It is ideal to clean up and secure an area soon after it is hit by a nuclear explosion."

More than 5,000 soldiers from privates to generals go through the armor school here yearly. They spend much of their time on the 110,500-acre post's ranges.

Senior officers study military tactics — in nuclear and conventional warfare. Courses for enlisted men cover a dozen subjects.

Tankers are confident, if not downright cocky.

One armorman talking about corps morale pointed to a passing private:

DESTINY STAYS WITH LEBANON'S GEN. SHEHAB

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Destiny just won't let Gen. Fuad Shehab alone.

The dark, stocky, deep-voiced Lebanese president-elect has always insisted that all he wants to do is command his 8,000-man army and stay out of politics.

Yet, in 1952, he filled a crisis void as acting premier and last year, when rioting broke out, the government turned to him to hold the defense minister's portfolio temporarily.

Political Fireman

Each time he returned to his army post when affairs settled down.

This time he won't get off so easily. He has been elected formally and overwhelmingly to a six-year term as political chief of a nation torn by rebellion since last May. He is scheduled to take office Sept. 24.

Few men of power acted as strangely as did Shehab during the revolt — but, then, few revolts have been conducted as strangely.

He kept his well-trained troops on the sidelines, ordering them to fight only when attacked.

Although his decision permitted the revolt to sputter for months, it may have kept the revolt from becoming a religious strife.

Another mentioned mines.

Not one mentioned a nuclear war.

"I guess," said Sutherland, "it's because we've never seen one."

Gil Roesler, senior Army half-back, is also a hurdler and high jumper on the track team.

home in the little town on the Mediterranean about 15 miles north of Beirut. He commutes to the capital in a guarded automobile.

Royal Ancestors

He comes from an old and eminent family. His ancestors once ruled Lebanon under the overlordship of the Ottoman emperor. He is entitled to use the title of prince but he never has.

Shehab attended Friar's College in his hometown, a French military school in Damascus and, later, St. Cyr, France's war college. He is married to the daughter of a French army officer.

He served in the French army and was a major with the forces in Lebanon and Syria when World War II broke out. He became commander of the Lebanese army in 1945 shortly after the nation gained its independence.

Military Mind

Shehab is a quiet man who refers to himself as the "big speechless one." He's not given to friendly small talk unless it's on military subjects. He has a small library in his home — almost all military books.

Not much is known of Shehab's private life. If he had ever been interviewed by Western newsmen no one recalls it.

Shehab will be a compromise president, chosen to succumb Camille Chamoun largely because both sides in the Lebanese revolt trust him.

His whole career has been conducive to that trust.

WASP THE TROUBLE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Beeman Charles Williams arrived home after one more successful day on the job which he's pursued for years — and was stung by a wasp. Twice. The wasp flew up his trouser leg. Williams spat. "You can depend on bees. But you can't trust wasps!"

PLUMS MAKE AN EXCELLENT PIE

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

The Associated Press

Angel pie has been going steady with lemon, chocolate and coffee fillings for some time. Now it teams up with fresh purple plums.

This Angel Pie has a bottom layer of crisp meringue, its center is a soft concoction of fruit and whipped cream. If you freeze some of this season's purple plums, you can make this dessert even at Christmas.

FRESH PURPLE PLUM ANGEL PIE

Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup cold water, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon powdered cloves, 12 fresh purple plums (pitted and quartered), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons superfine granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, Meringue Shell.

Method: Sprinkle gelatin over $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of cold water to soften.

In a medium-sized saucepan mix the remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water, sugar, cinnamon, cloves and plums; cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until plums are soft; measure and add enough boiling water to make $\frac{1}{4}$ cups.

At once stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of the cream and beat in 1 tablespoon of the superfine sugar and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of the vanilla; spread over the bottom of the meringue shell. Cover with slightly thickened plum mixture. Chill until filling thickens some more. This is a soft filling; do not expect it to cut clean. Just before serving, whip remaining cream, beating in remaining superfine sugar and vanilla as garnish for pie top. Note: If shell is filled and stored for more than 3 to 5 hours, the bottom will become soggy.

Meringue Shell

Ingredients: 3 egg whites, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup superfine granulated sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vinegar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Have whites at room temperature; beat to a coarse foam.

Add vinegar, salt and vanilla. Beat in sugar thoroughly, $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoon at a time; continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Spread in an even layer $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch thick over bottom and sides of a well-buttered 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a very slow (275 degrees) oven about 1 hour and 15 minutes — until light tan and crisp. Cool slowly in pie plate placed on wire rack away from drafts. It's the nature of a large meringue shell, made in a pie plate, to crack in a few places!

PARIS (AP) — Four Algerian terrorists tried to set off a major explosion in one of the capital's main gasworks Tuesday night.

The explosion ripped open a big pipe. A resulting fire was promptly extinguished.

Experts said an explosion of the tank could have turned part of Paris' suburbs into ruins.
